While standing in front of the academy in your town, Curtis Swango is said to have remarked to a friend, as he looked himself over: "I am as good looking as that Dan Cuningham, and I'm not going to let him have my girl."
C. B. Amyx returned Sunday from Frozen creek, where he went to attend a dance given at the home of Sam Henry Hurst. Brock reports a fine time and says about thirty couple were present, and enjoyed the dance and also the supper.
One day last week A. J. Scott took dinner with Bud Little and after dinner Jack was taken with something like cholera morbus. Some one suggested that vinegar, pepper and sugar would be good for him to drink. Bud, wishing to relieve him of his suffering as soon as possible, in hunting for the vinegar jug, found the jug with coal oil in it, and gave him half a pint of that, thinking it was vinegar. Jack is all o. k. now, but wishes he had as many dollars as he feels like h—l.

Wine of Cardui Calendar.

THE HERALD has received the Cardui weather chart and calendar for 1898 from the Chattanooga Medicine Co., manufacturers of McElree's Wine of Cardui and Thedford's Black-Draught. This is one of the best calendars published. It consists of twelve sheets of paper, 18x20 inches in size, all fastened together with a gilt tin strip and a brass loop hanger. Each sheet contains the calendar for one month in large figures that can be read across any room. Under the figures patent weather signals indicating Prof. DeVoe's weather forecasts for every day in the year appear. The moon's changes and legal holidays are also shown. The calendar is valuable in any home. We understand a few copies of it can be secured by sending 10 one-cent postage stamps to the Chattanooga Medicine Co. Chattanooga, Tenn.

LETTER FROM TEXAS,

In Which the Writer Advises Kentuckians to Stay at Home.—Texas No Good.

GATERVILLE, TEXAS, Dec. 26, 1897.
MR. J. H. VEST, Gilmore, Ky.—Dear Sir:—I will write you a few lines and tell you something of life in the far west. It has been very near six years since I came to Texas, and to be honest with you will say that I can tell you but little more about Texas than I could six months after I first came. This is more a country of chance than any country I ever was in, and 9-10 of the chances are against you. Texas can be highly praised for one thing, and that is her never ceasing winds. We have March all the year, except the cold rain and snow. There are some other things which it is noted for, and that is the different races of people that inhabit her broad prairies. We have most every class and kind on earth, except the honest man, such as old Uncle John D. Rose, of Lacy creek, and many others that I could name. Of course, there is a number of men here who are honest and pay their debts, and make their word good, but still they oppress the poor and give them but little chance to live.

Mr. Vest, if you see any one coming west, tell them for their own good that Texas is no place for a poor man. There are some people here now that are suffering for something to eat and wear, and still plead that Texas is a good country. Cannot understand why they do so unless they want others to share their fate. People are still coming here for health, but if ever Kentucky was as unhealthy as Texas, I am no judge. We have some of the most sudden changes in weather here of any country I have ever seen. I have seen it so warm here that one could hardly work in their shirt sleeves without suffering with heat, and next day could hardly stand the cold with overcoats on. Texas is mostly filled up with renters, and the time has fully come when its a game of chance for one to get a place. There is about three renters to every farm. There are families here who camp out the year round, as did the natives in early days, and go from place to place, searching for work to obtain support. Young man, you had better not come here, for this is a hard country.

Would love to see some of my old acquaintances and friends of Gilmore. Some have gone where no traveler ever returns, but still a few are left. Do you ever see Si or Blain?

Ever your friend,
HENRY COCKRELL.

At the Christian church on Sunday morning, the topic for the sermon will be "Soul Preservation." On Sunday evening at 6:30 the Y. P. S. C. E. will hold its monthly consecration meeting in the Christian church. To that meeting all are very cordially invited. A number of spiritual songs will be sung, and some most excellent papers will be read, and spiritual talks will be given. Remember to be present with your families, friends and visitors.

HOW TO FIND OUT.

Fill a bottle or common glass with urine and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates a diseased condition of the kidneys. When urine stains linen it is positive evidence of kidney trouble. Too frequent desire to urinate or pain in the back, is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

WHAT TO DO.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in relieving pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passages. It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to get up many times during the night to urinate. The mild and extraordinary effect of Swamp Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists, price fifty cents and one dollar. For a sample bottle and pamphlet, both sent free by mail, mention THE HAZEL GREEN HERALD and send your full post-office address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The proprietors of this paper guarantee the genuineness of this offer.

STATE SIFTINGS.

The Lexington Fruit Co., of Lexington, assigned last week. Assets $200, liabilities $1,500.

The Frankfort lottery is no more. All of the shops were closed to open no more. The owners say they have given up.

The steamer New South collided with a towboat four miles below Cloverport. It is not known whether or not she was injured.

D. D. Winchel, one of a hunting party near Bee Springs, was accidentally shot by a young man named Rich, who fired at a flock of birds.

Robbers are abroad in Warren county. The store of Sam Thomas, at Green Hill, was robbed and burned to the ground Thursday night.

Gov. Bradley Friday ordered Inspector Lester to make an inspection of county offices in the counties of Clay and Harlan. The officials in these counties are Republicans.

County Jailor W. B. Wilkerson, with several deputies, took thirteen prisoners to the Frankfort penitentiary last week, all of whom were convicted at the last term of the Fayette court.

Dr. John Collins, of Whitesburg, representative-elect from Floyd, Knott and Letcher, is very sick at his home and his friends fear he will not be able to attend the session of the legislature this winter.

Police Judge Gray Falconer, of the city of Lexington, has filed suit against the state auditor for the fees due for acting police judge, and the case will be tried before the Frankfort circuit court January 9.

J. W. Wickerson, who was shot by Officer Robert Colyer at Somerset Thursday night, is at the city hospital in a very dangerous condition. Wilkerson had loaded upon "blind tiger" booze during the day and was hunting trouble.

The examining trial of Richard Brannan, charged with enticing a 14-year-old girl from her home at Shelbyville, on pretense of marriage, was held at Shelbyville Friday, and the accused was held to the grand jury in $200 bail, default of which landed him in jail.

The governor last week refused the following applicants for pardon: Henry Blackwell, Hopkins county, manslaughter; Sid Branch, Graves, murder; Tyler Franklin, Marion, housebreaking; Dave Wheeler, Jessamine, shooting and wounding; Sam Miller, Lyon, attempt at rape.

H. J. Heinz, the millionaire Pittsburg pickle manufacture, and Sebastian Mueller, his brother-in-law, have been buying horses at Lexington. Mr. Heinz got a span of chestnut coach horses and two fine saddlers, while Mr. Mueller purchased a couple of handsome saddle horses.

S. E. Barry, the "millionaire tramp," was found down near the wharf Friday morning at 2 o'clock with his left leg broken, at Paducah. He fell from a platform while partially under the influence of liquor. Since he came to that place the day before he has scattered his money with a lavish hand. His injury will disable him for several weeks.

The steamer Andy Hatcher was burned near the mouth of Paint creek about midnight on Christmas night. The boat belonged to Capt. G. Meek and was the best on Big Sandy. The loss is not a total one as there was about $3,000 insurance carried on the boat. The burning of the boat was a great loss to the people of the valley, as it was the only comfortable boat for passengers on the Big Sandy.—Paintsville Commercial.

F. M. Long a few days since sold his home place, on the Salem fork of Grassy creek, Morgan county, to Noah Long, of Big Sinking. The place contains about 65 acres, and the price paid was $400 in cash. The purchaser will take possession about March 1.

Happy George B. Clay.

On the train from the east last night arrived in Williamson Mr. Geo. B. Clay and his accomplished bride and took rooms at the Esther Arms. They are returning from a bridal tour and have stepped here to visit a sister of Mr. Clay, the pleasant hostess of the Esther Arms. We extend to the happy couple the hospitalities of the town and feel confident that their sojourn in our midst will be pleasant. Their trip has been exceedingly pleasant, visiting all the leading cities of the east, and are now returning to the home of the bride, where there will be a family reunion on Christmas. Later we met Mr. Clay, and found him a very happy groom. In excellent health and spirits, he looks better than we have ever seen him before, a perfect picture of Kentucky manhood. After congratulations on the happy event of his marriage and bright future, we delicately intimated to the distinguished Kentuckian if he did not in the near future think of introducing his charming bride into Washington society. "Oh," remarked Mr. Clay, "you have reference to my congressional aspirations. Well, you can tell the people I am theirs to command, and if they desire it, I should be pleased to represent them in congress."

As our time was limited we could not extend our talk on political questions, but from what we can glean from the expression of the people Mr. Clay has bright prospects for the nomination for congress from the Tenth district of Kentucky. If honored by his people he make a most worthy representative, and would reflect credit not only upon his constituents, but upon the state of Kentucky.—Williamson West Virginian.

The Ladies' Home Journal for 1898.

To make The Ladies' Home Journal for 1898 "the best of all the years; the most cheerful and helpful magazine that a woman can possibly have in her home," is the purpose of the editors, as disclosed by a prospectus outlining a few of the projected features for the coming year. While the Journal will be more useful and practical than ever before, it is made apparent that its literary features will be strengthened, and that pictorially it will be more attractive and artistic than ever.

Two fiction issues, in all over thirty short stories, are promised during the year. The stories will be by Mark Twain, F. Marion Crawford, Hamlin Garland, Mary E. Wilkins, Julia Magruder, Clara Morris, Mrs. A. D. T. Whitney and other well-known authors. "Inside of a Hundred Homes" will be continued and supplemented by other articles upon fitting, furnishing and beautifying the home; and in addition to the Journal's "Moderate-Cost Houses," churches, schools, farm buildings, etc., will be given—with detailed plans and specifications.

This is but a passing glance at the 1898 Ladies' Home Journal, which is aimed to meet the literary and practical needs of every member of the household. By The Curtis Publishing Company, Philadelphia. Ten cents per copy, one dollar per year.

THE HERALD.

SPENCER COOPER, : : : Editor.

HAZEL GREEN, KY.
THURSDAY, Jan. 6, 1898.

THE publication of a paper at Salyersville, about which there was much talk a short time since, has been indefinitely postponed. Should it materialize, however, Mr. Norris, who formerly had charge of the Campton Banner, will probably be the presiding deity over its destiny.

THE wealth of Phil Armour, Chicago's millionaire pork packer and butcher, by reason of a December wheat deal, is now one million dollars better than it was. But his loss unfortunately is not our gain, for Mr. Leiter will keep up the price of grain, and we, the tillers and toilers, suffer in the main.

THE Morgan County Democrat, our suspended free silver contemporary recently published at West Liberty, we understand will soon be revived at Ezel as the Ezel Democrat. Mr. Cassidy, however, severed his connection with the paper when it suspended, and we are not informed as to who will now wield the wand.

A LARGE delegation of the friends of Judge C. B. Hill, candidate for chief clerk of the house, left Beattyville Friday morning in his interest. They are all prominent men, recognized as among the best organizers in Eastern Kentucky, and the probability is that ere this paper is printed Breck will have secured the prize.

OUR young friend Charles O'Connell, who so ably conducted the Breeze at Lake City, Florida, has severed his connection with that paper and leased the Columbia County Citizen and Florida Tobacco Plant. We have great faith in Charley's future, and have always forecast a fortune for him. But how on earth he will be able to "tote" all the name of his new paper is more than we can understand. Blue pencil part of it, Charley, or you'll collapse under the load.

CAPT. HAVENS has sold the Sentinel Democrat to Ben and Squire Turner, of Mt. Sterling, and the firm took charge of the plant with the beginning of the year. The former is judge of the police court at that place, and a lawyer, and the latter was editor of the Sentinel Democrat for some 18 months. THE HERALD extends the right hand of fellowship and wishes them success. And for Capt. Havens, who has not yet made up his mind as to what business he will engage in, we wish him abundant success in whatever enterprise he may embark.

HON. A. D. ROBERTS, senator elect from this senatorial district, passed thro' Beattyville Friday, says a dispatch from that place, on his way to Frankfort. He told in a very amusing way of having received a telegram, which was brought through the country on horseback, from Senator W. H. Clark, Bradley's man, stating that the legislature would not convene until Tuesday, January 11. He says that beyond doubt Clark's idea was to mislead him that he might reach the capital too late to vote in the organization, and that he is satisfied Clark has tried to play the same trick on other members living away from the railroads.

ACCORDING to a dispatch from Jackson the indebtedness of Breathitt county was in three years decreased from $30,000 to $7,000, property tax from 50 to 45 cents; and poll tax from $1.50 to $1.10. This has been done in the face of the fact that during the time the county has been compelled to bring suits on a sheriff's bond for an aggregate of nearly $10,000 collected taxes, nearly all of which have been put in good shape for recovery. Following are the changes in officers: J. Wise Hagins succeeds N. B. Day for county judge; John Patrick vice T. T. Cope, county attorney; J. S. Cope vice G. T. Strong, sheriff; A. C. Russell vice Hy Centers, jailer; S. S. Taulbee vice J. Wise Hagins, county clerk; D. F. Hagins vice Miss Cattie Little, superintendent, and A. L. Hagins succeeds himself for circuit clerk. Thus three brothers take charge of three of the most important offices of the county.

L. C. DEMAREE, formerly a citizen of Campton, later an editor of the Lexington Observer, and still later lighthouse keeper at Ponce Park, Florida, is now editor and manager of the Daily Day-tonian, at Daytona, Florida, a copy of which has reached us. It is a neat five column folio, well filled with advertising and full of the bright thoughts of the editor. Lud is a good writer, and his many friends here will rejoice at his good fortune in being at the head of so good a paper.

THOS. Y. FITZPATRICK, congressman from this district, has been at Frankfort for the past several days working in the interest of his relative and friend, Hon. South Trimble, of Franklin county, for the chairmanship of the Democratic caucus held by the legislators Monday night. We go to press too early to tell the result of his labors, but if faithfulness counts and the wish be father to the thought, then Tom landed his man.

AN exchange says a little girl who had been taught to pray for others and for anything she wanted, wound up her prayer: "And now, oh, God, take good care of yourself, for if anything should happen to you we would only have McKinley to help us, and he ain't doing near as well as we expected."

Robbery in Morgan County.

A man named Wash Wheeler, living on the farm of Frank Cecil, on Grassy, recently discovered that his corn crib was being pilfered, and set to watch for the thief. That was on the Saturday night before Christmas. He and his brother kept a sharp lookout, and some time during the night two men came to the crib and began filling a sack. The watchers lay quiet until the sack was nearly filled, and then called to know if they hadn't enough? At the call the men ran, and Wheeler called to them to halt. But they heeded him not and he fired, when one of the men was seen to fall. The watchers then ran up and discovered the wounded man to be one Price, a blacksmith living in the neighborhood. Wheeler asked him why he had stolen his corn, and he replied that he was only borrowing with the intention of returning it. At this Wheeler tried to borrow his brother's pistol, remarking that he would kill the man for telling such a lie. Price then began to plead for his life and beg that he be not prosecuted. Wheeler then let him go his way, and next morning Price's son, who admitted being with his father at the crib, went to Mr. Wheeler to seek a compromise. After listening to his tale of woe, Mr. Wheeler agreed that if they would pay him $5 for what they had previously taken and leave the community within 24 hours he would not prosecute. This was acceded to by the young man, who subsequently turned over a handsaw and some other tools to liquidate the debt. Price had 35 shot in his back, but was able to get away, and has not since been seen about there.

On the same night the smokehouse of Harlan McClure, of the Nickell fork, was entered and robbed of a ham and two bacon sides.

A Precocious Five-Year Old.

Elder J. T. Pieratt has just received the following letter from a little fellow in Lee county, who, he assures us, is but five years old. We give it verbatim, et literaturam, et punctuaturam: "RadiCal Lee Co Ky dec 16 1897 Rerr J T Pea-ratte i seet mi self to let you no our shoel is out to day and we hate to give Robert up i want you to Come down and see us and PreaCh for us all is well as Comon grand Paw stwath dide on the last day of november Robert H Smyth." The "Robert" referred to in the letter is our own little Robert Kash, who taught the school at Radical, and proved so popular and progressive a pedagogue as to elicit the elaborate praise of both patron and pupil. The precocious youth who penned the letter was one of the latter, judging from the lamented departure of the tutor, and while his epistle is neither euphonious nor exempt of faults, it is much better than the average five year old can formulate. If Robert H. Smyth's papa will procure for him some popular paper to read regularly—THE HAZEL GREEN HERALD, for instance—Robert's improvement will be rapid indeed, and now is the time to subscribe.

Thoroughly Convinced.

Charley Buchanan a few days since told the editor that he had been kept busy ever since his ad appeared in THE HERALD. Merchants and others, who loaf half the time because of no custom to wait upon, might learn a lesson from this illustration and at once come into the enjoyment of a lucrative business.

A Cure for Lame Back.
"My daughter when recovering from an attack of fever, was a great sufferer from pain in the back and hips," writes Loudon Grover, of Sardis, Ky. "After using quite a number of remedies without any benefit she tried one bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and it has given entire relief." Chamberlain's Pain Balm is also a certain cure for rheumatism. Sold by J. T. Day, Hazel Green.

F. M. Long and John Amyx are this week moving their saw and grist mill from Gillmore to the Nickell fork, and will locate on the DeBusk farm.

Rev. J. H. Wallin will preach at the Gillmore church Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock, and at the Presbyterian church in this place Sunday night.

For Sale—A first-class improved White sewing machine, with all attachments and good as new; cost $45 but will be sold for $25. Apply at this office.

The honest, debt paying citizen that takes THE HERALD hereafter will pay for it in advance, and receive the paper just as long as he has paid for it, but not another issue after.

Do not fail to read the advertisement of Russell Bros., millers and sawyers, which appears in this issue of our paper, and, after reading it, extend them your patronage. By actual test we can say that their flour is equal to the best usually brought to this market, and it will therefore pay you handsomely to have them do your grinding—either wheat or corn. They also saw lumber of all kinds and on short notice can furnish dressed ceiling, flooring, weatherboarding, etc. A trial will convince you.

Persons who are troubled with indigestion will be interested in the experience of Wm. H. Penn, chief clerk in the railway mail service at Des Moines, Iowa, who writes: "It gives me pleasure to testify to the merits of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. For two years I have suffered from indigestion, and am subject to frequent severe attacks of pain in the stomach and bowels. One or two doses of this remedy never fails to give perfect relief. Price 25 and 50 cents; for sale by J. T. Day, Hazel Green.

The enrollment at the academy at this date is more than for any previous session at the same time. There are more boarders at the Home and more day pupils, and yet there is room. Two hundred and fifty matriculates can be accommodated here. This is really the only boarding school in Eastern Kentucky. There are now nearly fifty boarders in our town.

The meeting at Grassy Lick, Morgan county, closed Saturday night with 45 conversions, and Rev. Barnett Blankenship and others who did the preaching, deserve much praise for planting so many promising vines in the Master's vineyard. Prompt attention and proper pruning will render them vigorous and redolent with the perfume of a pure religion. So mote it be.

John Will Taulbee, of Daysboro, who recently taught the public school on Gillmore, is now teaching a subscription school at Lee City. Four citizens of that school district contributed $75 to insure the school, and others, perhaps, just as liberally. We should like their names for publication, as such men are the salt of the earth.

Jim Lacy, who has been visiting his Illinois relatives since some time last fall, returned home Christmas, and was the bearer of an apple from Floyd James to Eliza James, as a Christmas gift. The apple was of the sweet sort, weighed a fraction over one pound, and after 14 persons ate of it there was still some of it left.

Rev. Henry Wallin, of this place, was the guest of Henry Combs, of Frenchburg, on New Year's day, and helped to eat a wild turkey caught in the wilds of Menifee county. Mr. Wallin says Mr. Combs is a good liver, judging from the spread at dinner that day, and the editor can also bear testimony that he is fond of "good things." Can't we, Henry?

If YOU happen to be one of those who owe this office, PLEASE come in and pay us. To you it may seem but a small amount, but if all will pay us what they owe we can make the paper a great deal better and not be worried to death over the debts we owe. Come in today and pay up; don't delay it. If Isom Long, of the Salem fork of Grassy, has conditionally sold his home farm, about 150 acres, to a Pike county man for $1,500, and entered into written contract. If the purchaser shows up within 30 days the deal is on, and should he fail to do so Mr. Long retains the place.

Just before the late November election some one took from my horse a pair of fair leather saddle bags. Through a friend I have located them, and if they are returned where I can get them that will be the end of it. If not, some one will have to prove the possession. If.

Monroe Wallin, son of Rev. J. H. Wallin, and a student of Jackson collegiate institute, has been confined to the home of his father at this place with mumps, and is not yet sufficiently recovered to return to school.

Ex Senator Wm. O. Mize, of Hazel Green, is in the city on a visit of a couple of weeks. He is accompanied by his son Carl, who will enter one of our business colleges for a course.—Lexington Argonaut.

Four persons are expecting to be graduated from the academy in June. Here's wishing their expectations may be realized.

The New Town Officers.

The following are the town officers sworn in at last meeting, and now in charge of affairs: Trustees—G. B. Swanego, chairman; W. O. Mize, W. H. Cord, W. T. Caskey, Emery James. Clerk of the board, W. H. Pieratt; police judge, George W. Wheeler; town attorney, R. A. Kash; town marshal, George Byrd. Several new ordinances were passed and will shortly be published. The new administration, it is understood, will hold all violators of the town laws to a strict accountability, and propose to maintain the peace and dignity of the corporation regardless of cost. This is "a consummation devoutly to be wished," and in which all good citizens will most heartily concur.

Beauty, Utility and Value

Are happily combined in Hood's Sarsaparilla Coupon Calendar for 1898. The lovely child's head in an embossed gold frame, surrounded by sprays of flowers in mosaic, the harmonious pad in blue with clear figures, and the coupons by means of which many valuable books and other articles may be obtained, make up the most desirable calendar we have ever seen. The first coupon article is Hood's Practical Cook's Book, a handsome, useful volume of 350 pages. Ask your druggist for Hood's Coupon Calendar, or send 6 cents in stamps for one to C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

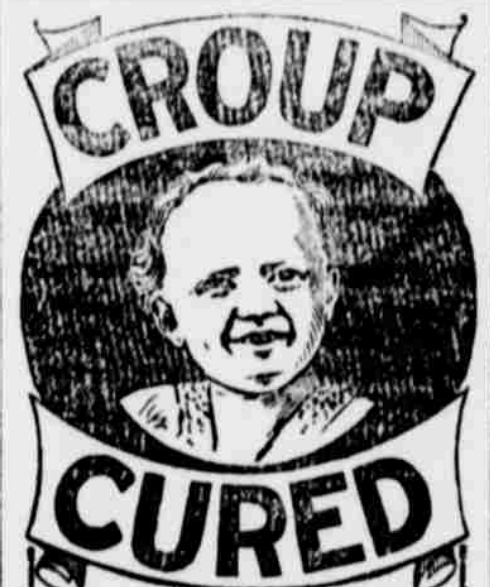

One of the handsomest calendars for 1898 received at this office is that sent out by the Day Brothers Company, of Jackson. It is not only a ready reference for dates, etc., but is also a constant reminder to keep holy the commands, especially the seventh, and that firm will please accept our thanks for the same.

FARM FOR SALE.

I offer for sale, on liberal terms, my farm lying on Blackwater, four miles below Ezel, known as the Miles Kash farm, 175 acres of which is the most valuable tract of unimproved land in Morgan county, with timber on it sufficient to pay for the land. HAZEL GREEN, KY., December 20, 1897.

MR. _____:

Dear Sir: You will please excuse me for intruding on your valuable time, but as I have not had the pleasure of seeing you for some months past, I thought I would once more (perhaps before death) remind you of a solemn occurrence that took place long, long ago. Now, this is a painful duty for me to perform, and perhaps when you receive this sad intelligence your own heart will be burdened with sorrow. But I should keep you in suspense no longer.

In days past and gone you bought of me goods under a solemn promise that payment would be made in a few days. What on earth is the matter? Are you dead, or still living? If dead, write me, and I will donate the amount to the education of your children. But if still living, fulfill your promise. Call and pay what you owe me, and thereby increase your prospects for the Eternal City. Don't let the devil tempt you any longer. But rise up in your manhood and fulfill the teachings of the Holy Writ,

"Owe No Man anything."

Very respectfully,

Written for THE HERALD.
PLEASURE.

By Lady Cook, nee Tennessee C. Claffin,
Richmond, Surrey, England.

The pursuit of pleasure is a universal instinct throughout all animated nature. The love of pleasure is as much a natural appetite as the love of food. We may safely assume, therefore, that its gratification, when rationally indulged, serves some useful and important purpose. All inquiry not only confirms this, but shows that pleasure is a necessity, morally, mentally, and physically. If this be so, the asceticism which condemns all pleasure is as immoral as it is foolish.

Our desires seek a great diversity of objects. These may be worthy or unworthy, and our methods of attaining them right or wrong. But the end purposed is pleasure, and frequently its mere pursuit brings about a modified gratification. There is a wide distinction, however, between pleasure and happiness, because pleasure may be virtuous or vicious, whereas happiness necessarily consists in the former. Socrates beautifully described happiness as "unrepented pleasure." And it must be self-evident that the pleasures which need no repentance are those alone which are worthy of attainment. Prudence is their basis. The great founder of the philosophy of pleasure, Epicurus, the best abused and most misunderstood of the Greek sages, said: "All other virtues grow from prudence, which teaches that we cannot live pleasantly without living justly and virtuously, nor live justly and virtuously without living pleasantly."

Unfortunately, the "religious" have frequently denounced all pleasure, confounding the evil with the good, and many poets and philosophers have followed in their wake. Thus Cowper writes of it as "That reeling goddess with a zoneless waist." Another says: "And pain and pleasure e'er shall be, As Plato says, in company, Receive the one, and soon the other Will follow to rejoin his brother."

All these, however, refer to that false and short-lived gratification which does not make for happiness, but rather destroys, in those that indulge them, the power to enjoy true pleasure. "Unknown to them when sensual pleasures eloy, To fill the languid pause with drier joy."

What real pleasure is, the celebrated Tillotson, in one of his sermons partly informs us: "There is a great pleasure in being innocent, because that prevents guilt and trouble. It is pleasant to be virtuous and good, because that is to excel ourselves. Nay, it is pleasant even to mortify and subdue our appetites, because that is victory: it is pleasant to command our appetites and passions, and to keep them in due order, within the bounds of reason and religion, because this is a kind of empire—this is to govern."

Our desires and tastes are so numerous, that our pleasures should be almost numberless, yet we obtain few through want of prudence, or through senseless prohibitions. That delightful old egoist, Montaigne, said: "There is no just and lawful pleasure wherein the intemperance and excess is not to be condemned. But, to speak the truth, is not man a most miserable creature the while? It is scarce, by his natural condition, in his power to taste one pleasure pure and entire; and yet must he be contriving doctrines and precepts, to curtail that little he has; he is not yet wretched enough unless by art and study he augment his own misery. Human wisdom makes ill use of her talent, when she exercises it in rescinding from the number and sweetness of those pleasures, that are naturally our due, as she employs it favorably, and well, in artificially disguising and tricking out the ill of life, to alleviate the sense of them. . . . Nature has with a motherly tenderness observed this, that the actions she has enjoined us for our necessity, should be also pleasant to us, and invites us to them, not only by reason, but also by appetite; and it is injustice to infringe her laws."

In these busy days, when men and women, and too frequently children, are worked at high pressure, the need of pleasure becomes the greater. If suitable and properly enjoyed, it is the salt of good morals, keeping them sound and sweet; the medicine of the mind, and the refresher of the body. Even harmless folly may occasionally promote wisdom. As Horace said: "Tis good, 'tis good at times to play the fool." To live and to enjoy life, has been affirmed to be not only the fundamental but the most illustrious of our occupations. Montaigne, whom we delight to quote, says: "Have you known how to mediate and manage your life; you have performed the greatest work of all. For a man to shew and set out himself, nature has no need of fortune; she equally shows herself in all degrees, and behind a curtain as well as without one. Have you known how to compose your manners? You have done a great deal more than he who has composed books. Have you known how to take repose? You have done more than he who takes cities and empires. The glorious masterpiece of man is, to know how to live to purpose; all other things—to reign, to lay up treasures, and to build, are at the most but little props."

The stern puritanism of old, which occasionally breaks out still, even in county councils and petty sessions, put the ban upon many innocent pleasures, and interdicted any semblance of them on Sundays. The people were taught by their spiritual guides that to look upon the green fields and running brooks was "Sabbath breaking," and that Sabbath-breaking was of equal turpitude with drunkenness. Thus their moral and religious ideas became confused, and they were driven to revolt against all restraints on the principle that one may as well be hanged for a sheep as a lamb. A Saturday night hymn for children commenced: "Haste, put your playthings all away, Tomorrow is the Sabbath day." A stanza of another, sung in infant schools, went:

"We must not laugh on Sunday,
But we may laugh on Monday,
On Tuesday and on Wednesday,
On Thursday, Friday, Saturday
Till Sunday comes again."

In regard to the question of opening the Crystal Palace on the Sunday, "The Record," which describes itself as "Liberal Conservative," and the organ of Low or Evangelical Churchmen, said, 45 years ago: "It is surprising that any animal, with a head of a higher order than a Chimpanzee, should pronounce it innocent to open a place for public worldly amusement on the Sabbath." It is through influences such as these that hypocrites—young men and old—have been manufactured in multitudes, and that crime and immorality are unwittingly promoted. The crying want of the time is more abundant means of Sunday recreation and of cheap and harmless evening pleasures for the toiling millions when their weekly and daily tasks are done. The narrowness of Sabbatarianism should be repudiated by all who lay any claim to intelligence. A cheerful spirit and a love of wholesome pleasures should be encouraged through life. Nor should we be too squeamish in our discrimination. The eye that sees notes often suffers from a beam. The same pleasures are not suitable for all, yet all may be suited. And the man who invents a new pleasure is undoubtedly a public benefactor. But whether we are old or young, rich or poor, ignorant or learned, or occupy a middle station, as the old moralist said: "Withal, let us be gay and sociable."

The progressive ladies of Westfield, Ind., issued a "Woman's Edition" of the Westfield News, bearing date of April 3, 1896. The paper is filled with matter of interest to women, and we notice the following from a correspondent, which the editors printed, realizing that it treats upon a matter of vital importance to their sex: "The best remedy for croup, colds and bronchitis that I have been able to find is Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. For family use it has no equal. I gladly recommend it." 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by J. T. Day, Hazel Green.

To the Preachers in the Mountains:

We want every preacher in the mountains to interest himself in THE HERALD and solicit subscriptions for it. The price of the paper is $1.00 a year, and to every preacher who will solicit subscriptions we will give 25 per cent, which may be applied to pay his salary or to the church fund, as he may elect. We want 1,000 new subscribers and take this method to get them, and at the same time help the Master's cause. Every preacher of every denomination is requested and authorized to act, and NOW, today, is the time to begin. Elder J. T. Pieratt has already undertaken the work, and we would like for all to begin at once.

The 75 cents due on each subscription thus taken must be sent with the name. The better way is for each preacher to receive four or more at a time, and then enclose names and bills in his letter. But where this cannot be done, send stamps for less than $1.00. Those convenient to the office can hand it in. Write names and post-offices plainly, and address SPENCER COOPER, Hazel Green.

A Coming Power.
Together let us pull, harmonious, for plenty, peace and progress. The HAZEL GREEN HERALD is fulfilling to the utmost our earliest prediction that "it would grow in favor and power as the years of mountain wealth grew apace." It is bright and full of kernal, going steadily upward.—Beattyville Enterprise.

Regarded as One of the Best.
The HAZEL GREEN HERALD is regarded as one of the best papers in Eastern Kentucky, and by the able management of its editor, Colonel Spencer Cooper, has worked its way to the front over innumerable difficulties. We congratulate our friend Cooper, and wish him increased prosperity.—Mt. Sterling Gazette.

Filled With "Sumpting" Good.
Our neighbor, THE HERALD, does not get out special editions, but every inch is filled with "sumpting" good. It was not until last Friday that we understood where that "inexhaustible budget" of local news, which is published in THE HERALD, comes from. It is evidently gotten up by that better friend Mr. Cooper writes so much about. We used to think her overestimated in being referred to as THE HERALD's better friend, but having met her, we shall not object if Bro. Cooper calls her his fourteen-sixteenths, it will sound better and do no injustice.—Cal. Crawford in Campton Observer.

Hon. A. J. Auxier Speaks Its Praises.
Hon. A. J. Auxier, delegate to the constitutional convention from Pike county, writing from Frankfort under date of Nov. 18, 1890, says: "I have received two or three copies of your excellent paper. I did not know that the mountains of Kentucky could get up such a good paper as you have the honor to edit. I now extend to you my hand, Bro. Cooper, and wish you God speed in all your endeavors."

Excellent News Journal.
Spencer Cooper, of that excellent news journal, the HAZEL GREEN HERALD, with his estimable wife, were in this city this week on their return from Lexington. Mr. Cooper sees in the mountains of his section a bright future, the enjoyments of which are delightful anticipations. He is right. The great resources of his section, now dormant, will be developed and he will be at his post to gather in the sheaves.—Mt. Sterling Gazette.

As Lively as Any in the State.
Bro. Cooper, of the HAZEL GREEN HERALD, who gets up as lively a weekly as there is in Kentucky, especially when it is considered that he lives 40 miles from a railroad, 20 miles from a telegraph office, and nowhere from a telephone, is, in addition to his journalistic abilities, an epicure of taste and a poet of rare pretensions.—Covington Commonwealth.

Wants It in Missouri.
Editor HERALD: Enclosed find $1 for a year's subscription to your paper. Please give lots of Morgan county news.—W. R. DeBard, Gentryville, Mo.

Wants to Hear From Her Old Home.
Mr. Editor: Miss Mary May requested me to write you and have her paper changed to Towles, Dacotah, which place she intends to make her future home. She says she cannot do without it, as she wants to hear from her old neighborhood once a week.—Fred Biehn, Mt. Olivet, Ky.

Leading Paper in Eastern Kentucky.

THE HERALD is increasing in interest every year, and is now the leading paper in Eastern Kentucky.—Taulbee (Breathitt county) correspondent.

A Live Paper.
Spencer Cooper, editor of the HAZEL GREEN HERALD, has added a new power press and other material to his office, making it the most complete office in the mountains of Eastern Kentucky. THE HERALD is a live paper, and Spencer proposes to lead the procession.—Winchester Democrat.

A New One From Kansas.
Editor HERALD: You will find enclosed $1, for which please send me your paper one year. You will also find a sample pair of our jack rabbit ears.—M. N. Oakley.

Plenty of Ads and Lots of News.
THE HAZEL GREEN HERALD has an advertising boom such as it never experienced before. It is now necessary to issue 12 pages. We forgot to say it last week, Bro. Cooper, but THE HERALD does carry lots of news along with its advertising patronage.—Sam Cassidy in Sentinel Democrat.

The Herald's a Favorite With 'Em.
Mr. Spencer Cooper—Sir: You will find enclosed 50 cents, which please place to Hiram Greer's credit, and send him THE HERALD six months. THE HERALD is such a favorite with us that we would as soon do without dinner as it. I would give some news, but I am not your scribe, and "On the Wing" would think I was taking too much on myself.—"Uncle Dave," Grassy.

Always a Welcome Visitor.
Mr. Spencer Cooper—Dear Sir: Your valuable paper, the HAZEL GREEN HERALD, has been a regular visitor at my home for the past three years, and I can say without reluctance that it is still a welcome visitor—a bit of literature eagerly looked for each afternoon. Every issue is filled almost to overflowing with messages from friends, associates and fellow-countrymen; and not only these, it is devoutly devoted to the interests of its country, both financially and morally. Its able editor deserves the commendation and patronage of every true friend of Eastern Kentucky.—R. S. Crain, Clifty.

Wants The Herald.
Dear Sir: As my home up to the last few weeks has been in your county, I would like to have THE HERALD. You will find $1 enclosed for which send to my address.—Rosa Belle Byrd, Everton, Mo.

And Still They Come.
Mr. Cooper: Find enclosed $1 to pay my subscription. I am a little tardy, but have been too busy to go to the office.—J. R. Cox, Waco, Mo.

A $1.00 Ad. Brings $214.00.
Mr. Cooper: When you said recently that $1 spent with THE HERALD would increase the selling price of the 210 acres of the McGuire farm from $50 to 100 over the last sale price when not so advertised, I confess I took the statement with a grain of salt, but paid my $1 and said nothing. The last sale came on Saturday, Dec. 4, a disagreeable day, but bidding was brisk, and the land brought $1,215, or $214 more than when not advertised, and I think the $1 well invested. Should occasion again offer I shall certainly use the columns of your valuable paper.—John M. Rose, Hazel Green, Ky.

Wants It in Madison County.

Spencer Cooper—Dear Sir: You will please change the address of my paper from Campton to Ruth-ton, Madison county, and oblige, as I am going to locate there against your next issue. WM. VENCEL.

She Wants It in Harrison County.
Mr. Spencer Cooper: Enclosed please find $1 for a year's subscription to your paper.—Mary Chandler, Lair, Ky.

The Best Paper for the Mountains.
Dear Editor: You will please find enclosed 50 cents, for which you may send me your valuable paper for the next six months, as I think it the best paper for the mountains of Kentucky ever published. Hoping you will confer a favor by sending it in the next mail, I remain, respectfully, etc.—A. J. Adams, Zachariah, Ky.

Like An Old Friend Every Week.
Mr. Spencer Cooper: Enclosed find $1 for THE HERALD. * It is like an old friend dropping in every week. Hoping everything goes well with you and yours, I am respectfully, etc.—R. P. Timmins, Campton.

Dear Sir: Enclosed find $1, for which please send me the dear old HERALD for another year.—Robt. Ellswick, Love's Mill, Va.

It Will Be Such a Pleasure.
Dear Sir: Find enclosed 50c, for which please send to my address your valuable paper, the HAZEL GREEN HERALD, for six months. It will be such a pleasure to hear the weekly news of my Hazel Green friends and acquaintances. Hoping I will receive it regularly, and with best wishes for Mrs. Cooper and yourself, I am, very respectfully, Mrs. Wm. H. John, Tacoma, Va.

Their Ad Has Paid Them Well.
Mr. Cooper: We have had a well displayed ad in THE HERALD for over two years, and attribute our success to that advertisement, that we know brought us much business we otherwise would not have had. Especially is this so with regard to our wagon building. We are so well convinced of this that we would now as soon think of doing business without forge or anvil as without advertising, and we believe all who so use the columns of your paper will get the same satisfactory results.—Rose & Davis, wagon builders and blacksmiths, Hazel Green, Ky.

Kind Words From Danville.
To the Mountaineers' Friend—Editor Spencer Cooper—My Dear Sir: I might have subscribed for THE HERALD as soon as I left there, but the gnats were bothering me so badly I could think of nothing but they were eating me up. Put my name on your subscription list, and send me the paper as soon as you can. * Be quick, I am anxious to hear the pleasant old echoes of the mountains.—Charles W. Buchanan.
